Welcome letter

GEDET is pleased to welcome ESCAD members to our annual meeting; and, just as when both associations participated together in 2005, we hope all attendees will share their knowledge and experiences.

XX CosmoDerm Meeting 2012, to be held in conjunction with the XXIV GEDET Meeting in Madrid on 22-24 November, has characteristics that make it particularly attractive.

The first day's subject, "Skin care of cancer patients", presents an extremely important issue from a dermatological and social viewpoint, and is enhanced by the collaboration of the Spanish Cancer Association, the Spanish Skin Cancer Association and the Spanish Academy of Dermatology and Venereology.

Preserving the highest possible quality of life for the patient is a goal shared by all medical specialties. In dermatology this aim is especially appreciated given the importance currently given to image. Thanks to contributions from leading dermatologists from Spain and other European countries, the conference will examine in depth how skin health affects the quality of life of those suffering from cancer.

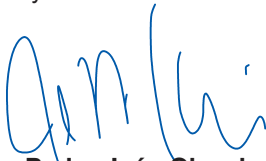

Interesting topics such as advances in the diagnosis and treatment of skin cancer, new developments in laser and new technologies in dermatology, current progress in plastic surgery and cosmetic techniques for clinical skin problems will be discussed along with other important matters in present-day science.

Another main attraction of this international meeting is its practicality. It includes workshops on the latest issues in dermatology and symposia with the latest developments in the pharmaceutical industry.

A Cancer Care Guide of the skin, hair, nails, etc, will be presented jointly by the Spanish Cancer Association and the Spanish Group for Aesthetic and Therapeutic Dermatology of the Spanish Academy of Dermatology and Venereology.

Finally, the congress venue is an added attraction, because...

Madrid is always well worth a visit.
